The Accused Honorably Discharged-! Pertersburg Boy Scalped in the Wild West-

PETERSBURG, August 21, 1885. Before Captain H. D. Perkins, of Could Chesterfield county, a magistrate of dies? Ettrick district, a case involving an Richmend and Petersburg railroad was beard this morning. On Sunday, June 21st, Mr. Norman Macomber, who at that time was the registered-letter clerk in the post-office here, boarded the excursion train which runs between this city and Richmond. Mr. Macomber had been drinking before he left this city, and when he entered the train he intoxicated. When the train had passed Chester station Mr. Macomber was sitting on the platform. Feeling nauseated he attempted to rise. In his effort to assume a standing position he touched a lever which separated the coaches while they were in motion at full speed. The train was crowded. Several hundred excursionists were packed in the coaches. Mr. Macomber, touching the lever, parted the train. Providentially there was no casualty. The train was ultimately joined to-gether. Mr. Macomber a few days ago surrendered himself to the police ere. He was recognized to appear before 'Squire Perkins, in Chesterfield this morning at 12 o'clock. Mr. Macomber, with his counsel, D. A. Lyon, Esq., of this city, was duly on hand, together with the witnesses for the Commonwealth. 'Squire Perkins waited until I o'clock for the representatives of the Commonwealth. As they had not arrived at that hour, he went into the trial. The witnesses for the Commonwealth were heard. They testified to the above facts. The railroad company was not represented by counsel, neither was the Commonwealth. 'Squire Perkins decided that there was no case against Mr. Macomber, and consequently he was honora-

HANOVER Co., August 21, 1885. The August moon has not shown down upon a happier or more successful entertainment than that given by the ladies of Walnut-Grove church and congregation Thursday evening. In the afternoon there was a Sunday-school pic-nic in the beautiful grove around the church. Swings, games, music, and a plenty of "goodies" made a happy time for the children. Then the Ladies' Sewing Society took charge and the feast began.

Mrs. Thaddeus Talley, Miss Alice Goff, and other ladies, were adepts in this line, and under their dexterous handling many nice things brought good prices. Then there were ice-cream, cake, lemoncessantly attacked by the warm and hungry crowds. Mrs. J. K. Starke, Mrs. George H. Smith, Mrs. Jenkins, Mrs. Wright, Mrs. R. R. Horne, Mrs. Jeter, and many others, young ladies and elderly, belonging to the Society, and volunteers labored incessantly to meet every demand. Over all the arrangements and courtesies of the occasion Mrs. Sarah E. Sydnor presided with her accustomed skill.

A Rapidly-Growing Town-Its Situation and Advantages-Tobacco Trade-Real Estato-[Correspondence of the Richmond Dispatch.]

August 20, 1885. This progressive town appears to have been seldom mentioned by your correspondents. Its rapid develop and growth since the completion of the railroad, the enterprises inaugurated, and the business thrift apparent on all sides, make it deserving conspicuous mention as the rising town of Southside Virginia.

It is situated on a commanding eminence, with many hills ascending from the Dan and Roanoke rivers, affording splendid building sites, easy of access, and with views of magnificent extent. Undulating surroundings, con-stant-running streams of fresh water, and thorough drainage, make it a place whose hecalthfolness and attractiveness at once strike the eye of a visitor.

Here before the war a large tobacco manufacturing business was done, the plug shipped to all the principal markets of the country ranking with the best grades. Then, as a leaf-tobacco market it was third in the State. The war caused the removal of the iron on the railroad to the Piedmont road, and when hostilities ceased for a long time the advancement of the town was by 9 o'clock. Two negro house-breakers, Frank Pool and Lee Martin, captured near Great Bridge, Norfolk county, yester-day, while being conveyed to the county jail this morning by Constable W. H. Lochart and one guard, successfully broke away from the officers and disappeared in the woods. Singular to say, both of the prisoners were handcuffed. The Old Point regatta, of which so uch was expected by the people of this section, was a great disappointment, and many came home last night disgusted with the Washington crews in abandoning the races yesterday afternoon when the Norfolk and Portsmouth crews were so willing and anxious to row, and proved that the water was none too rough by both going over the course with ease and comfort.

An important meeting of the Democratic Executive Committee of the Second congressional district is to be held in this city on Monday, to arrange plans for campaign work in this section. With a thorough canvass there will doubtless be a change for the better in nearly all the counties of the Second. The appointment of Colonel L. D. Starke, of this city, as canvasser at large could not be improved upon. He is a Hercules on the stump. G.

premises, on
TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER I, 1885,
at 12 M., the TWO VALUABLE FARMS,
called SPRINGFIELD and PARSONS, owned by the late George Watt.
Those lands are situated in Hanover county, near Cold Harbor, immediately on the Chickahominy river and in the famous trucking region of Hanover county, within ten miles of Richmond by a good road and within two and a half miles of the Richmond, York River and Chesapeake railroad, and convenient to sheps, stores, mile, schools, and churches. The neighborhood is healthy and pleasant to reside in.
The land consists of desirable proportions in farming, truck, and grass lands, and is remarkably well watered. There is a fine orchard, and a good deal of the land is seeded to grass.
These lands, under the careful intelligent,
and liberal management of Mr. George Watt, have been brought to a high state of fertility.
SPRINGFIELD contains 382% ACRES.
